designs and asked me to take classes for them. as well as I started taking orders for wedding blouses.

After marriage I settled in Chennai. Everything was new to me here. I couldn't implement anything from I learned. I don't know how to approach anyone in this unfamiliar town. i am a MBA graduate but I don't want go outside to work for corporate companies. I felt so bad for being idle. My husband encouraged me that you don't have to go to a company and create an identity for yourself, you can achieve more with the art you learnt. With his motivation, I created Dhivya Arts and Crafts YouTube Channel. I have uploaded Aari embroidery basic video without hiding techniques. Everyone who watched this video contacted me and approached me to take online classes.

I found an opportunity with the boom in technology, where I started taking online classes and direct classes. Worldwide people reach out to me for online classes who couldn't come in person to learn the arts and crafts specially aari works. People reach me out through my social handles on Instagram, Facebook and YouTube.

Now more than 3500 students are studying all over the world. I am running a mini college. Through my classes, many housewives benefited and started their own business in this field. There is great scope in the field of arts and crafts. I am very proud of my students who have succeeded in this profession.

I have achieved many achievements. Recently I received Suya Shakti homepreneur Award, India's Best Art and Craft Classes Award, Nakshatra Award, Kalpana Chawla Award. I have previously held two Guinness World Records.

Future plans of Divya Arts and Crafts are to expand and diversify my skills and provide a lot of opportunities to interested housewives and working professionals in this field.

The aim of education is the knowledge, not of facts, but of values. Learning is more enriching when we take risk and fall rather than not experiencing the path at all. The best way to enhance our outlook towards life is to know and understand from the life of people who have struggled to reach the pinnacle of success and on this occasion, we have revisited the experiences of individuals who have travelled the less travelled road in life. And I’m sure this day is filled with ray of wisdom which undoubtedly will be helpful in our life and career.

The International seminar was inaugurated by Mr. K. E. Ragunathan, Social Entrepreneur who highlighted on the need to up-skill oneself and to explore the roads that not all would want to explore.

Respected Sir,

Greetings from Dr MGR Janaki College of Arts and Science for women, Adyar, Chennai.

We are pleased to inform you that the Undergraduate Department of Biochemistry and postgraduate Department of Bioinformatics & Clinical Trial Management of our college is planning to organize a seminar/webinar on "NxtGenSeq-2k22" during the first week of September 2022 to create awareness about latest techniques involved in NGS. We are inviting eminent scientists and professors from various research institutions and colleges to make presentations.

Every year since the inception of the Department we have been conducting seminars, workshops and conferences related to the latest advances and trends in Biosciences for the benefit of scholars.

Being an interdisciplinary subject fulfilling the need for basic as well as applied aspects of biology, the Department is working to enrich and strengthen the young talents by producing competent students to excel in research and consultancy in Biosciences. In order to incorporate values beside classroom teaching the students are exposed to ample opportunities like, interaction with leading industries, project work, participation in debate, seminar, quiz, paper presentation etc.

We would be pleased if you could give the inaugural address on the recent trends in this field. On hearing from you we shall proceed with further arrangements.

Kindly give us the preferable mode of presentation (Physical/Webinar).

Looking forward to your favorable reply,

Thanks and Regards,

DYNAMICS OF THE SEMINAR

What will the Indian economy look like in 2047, the 100th anniversary of Independence? It is difficult to visualise the exact shape of India that emerges 25 years from now, but things are certain that when independent India turns 100 - much like attaining independence, becoming a prosperous, trend-setting inclusive global power, world's technological and economic powerhouse means accomplishing many tasks that we have set ourselves.

The Government of India is working on a vision India @ 2047- a vision plan for a 'future-ready India' that befits the 100th year of Indian Independence. The Government of India has set realistic targets and milestones for 2047 plan to lay the foundation for the future growth. So far, the key areas identified are agriculture, commerce, infrastructure, industry, urban landscape, security & defence, technology and governance.

Looking at vision India @ 2047 from an industry perspective, capacity resource management is going to present a huge challenge for India as the country prepares a roadmap of 25 years of journey ahead - this demands the initial requirement to identifying and conducting a 'gap analysis' of the domestic capabilities in public and the private sector, both along with the most advanced international capabilities across sectors to identify strategic areas in business where India has potential to become world leader, given a defined timeline. This seminar focuses on contemporary challenges in five strategic areas humanresource, finance, operations marketing, and technology in accomplishing vision India @ 2047 - Building to scale Building to last'.

DYNAMICS OF THE WEBINAR

Good morning!

A very welcome to the webinar titled “Contemporary trends in English Literature”

Literature has been emerging ever since and every time it emerges it is more meaningful than before. Writers and thinkers have been passionate about the new ideologies they come up with. These ideologies have been new and has made us think and has inspired educators all over the world to explore and ponder over these ideologies. As a world we have been going through the ups and downs of time. And the period starting from 1939 to present is referred to as contemporary period. After the end of world war-II, from 1930s to 1960s, a movement named New Criticism was in vogue. The later decades of twentieth century is also a period of cultural conformity and complacency, was marked by the emergence of vigorous anti-establishment and anti- traditional literary movements. Contemporary period also saw the emergence of new literary theories like deconstruction, psychoanalytic criticism, feminism, Marxism, postcolonial theory, queer theory, New Historicism, cultural materialism, Critical race studies and Ecocriticism. Literature written in the first few decades of 21st century focused on issues such as global warming, revisiting historical literature, works political international issues, pandemic literature, and technology-oriented literature.

This century is taking shape around us and has been dynamic in many ways. This webinar aims at providing students a panoramic view of the recent trends in the current century

To begin with Dr. Swarnalatha would present on the topic “Keeping up with the dynamic trends in literature” which would help us to have a better understanding of the changing trends.

Followed by Dr. V.Smitha Narayanan will present her views on the topic “The Current trends in Children’s and young adult literature”. This topic has been chosen to cater the needs of researchers who are working on contemporary children's literature.

Dr. Laly Mathew will focus on “Beyond bedtime stories: Changing trends in children’s literature” an intrend topic which is likely to dwell into the myriads of themes in children’s literature.

“Fiction in English literature – an overview on early to current trends” will be the topic of Ms. Gayathri who will help students understand the evolution of Contemporary Literature to give a better perspective of it.

I am sure that all of us are going to have an enriching experience today.

WEBINAR REPORT

Contemporary trends in literature being the topic for the webinar today has undoubtedly given us a very crystal clear picture of the recent trends in different genre of literature today. Our first speaker Dr. Swarna latha assistant professor and H.OD Vellalar college for women introduced the topic, keeping up with dynamic trends in literature by giving a peep into the 20th century, modernism with reference to T.S Eliot She also highlighted the new trends in literature with reference to vernacular language and its usage. Another interesting aspect is the age of cybernetics that is emerged as a new form of literature. Dr. Smitha Narayanan , our keynote speaker for the day elaborated on the post modern times after world War 2 and she stressed on how cultural studies has become an Integral part on literature. She touched upon meta narratives and the impact of text to hyper text and its convergence in the same text. Very interesting ideas put forward.

Our next speaker Dr. Laly Mathew's presentation on the topic, Beyond bedtime stories changing trends in children's literature. A very enriching presentation which took us through children's literature in the past and the influence of the puritans in the early children's literature. She also covered the changing trends in recent times in the 20th century of the publishing industry with reference to Grimms , perrault, Handerson and fairy tales. An interesting part of the presentation is the way in which mam related theories to children stories. An introduction to popular role of e-platform in the popularity of children's book is worthwhile to listen to. Bling books , Bookstagram, mashwords and wattpads are the new takeaways of the presentation.

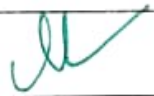

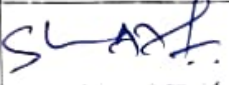

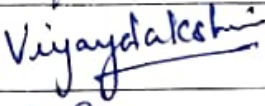

Miss Gayathri, Assistant Professor, Shahun Jain College presented on the topic "Fiction in English Literature: An Overview of Early to Current Trends in Fiction". Her elaborate presentation included the types of fiction, sub genres of fiction.

I am sure the webinar has enhanced our knowledge on the current trends in literature with specific reference to fiction. I would like to thank the eminent speakers for kindling our interest in reading more and learning about the recent developments of different genres in literature.

What a pleasant morning! "You can speak well if your tongue can deliver the message of your heart."

I heartily welcome you all to this workshop about Financial Literacy & Empowerment

We all come to college to gain education and learn how to earn money in the career of our choice. But the most important aspect of life is how to save, manage and multiply the money we earn so that we can financially secure our future. StuCred helps students learn how to make the most of the money earned by them. StuCred is an RBI, licensed lending platform that helps students build a credit score and also get small credits to meet small emergency expenses.

Stucred has catered to over 4 lakh students over the past 5 years under the safety and security of the RBI guidelines and helped them understand the impact building and maintaining a healthy digital financial footprint.

With that note, Team Stucred - represented by Ms Rashmi and Mr Harish, has organized a workshop in partnership with Team Ubuntu. Ms Rashmi is the marketing head at StuCred and Mr Harish is the college liaison at StuCred.

Introducing our trainers from Ubuntu:

Mrs. Aarthi Parameswaran has devoted herself for creating an exciting and encouraging learning environment for the student community. More than 500 children, staff members, and parents have benefited from her exceptional interpersonal and communication abilities.

Ms. Gowri Ramachandran graduated from the University of Madras with a master's degree in commerce. She is also a Certified Financial instructor.

Ms.Vidya Shivakumar is an enthusiastic business woman, a Certified Financial Education Instructor, and a catalyst for Startups to improve their Operational Efficiency and Strategy Management.

On behalf of management, faculty members and students of Dr.MGR Janaki College of Arts and Science for Women, I welcome you all

I request Ms. K. Banumathy mam and Dr. E. Nirmala mam (Head of the Department of Commerce General and Accounting & Finance) to welcome our guest with a memento.

MAIL COMMUNICATIONS

Thank you very much for accepting our invitation Sir. The students are pursuing their Undergraduation. They study basic concepts of Abstract Algebra, Real Analysis, Trigonometry, Differential Equations, Integral Calculus. So, based on this you can pick a topic of your choice and deliver a session for 45 minutes as you said and also a 10 minute presentation about CMI.

The first session for the day will be delivered by Dr.Hema Srinivasan Ma'am (University of Missouri) from 9am to 10am on the topic - Numbers, Counting and Symmetry. Your session will begin at 10:15 am .

Once you have chosen a topic kindly let me know the same . Along with it you can also send me your profile so that we can present a formal introduction before your session begins.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Thank & Regards

Sorry for the delay in replying. I can definitely give a talk. I was undecided about the topic. I have the following in mind. Please let me know if this would be appropriate.

- . brief discussion of Gaussian elimination for solving linear equations
- . division algorithm for single-variable polynomials
- . Combining the above two, how do solve system of polynomial equations in two or more variables.

Would the students have seen enough linear algebra and abstract algebra to follow the above talk? If this is OK, I will send you a more precise title and abstract.

Manoj.

Hema Srinivasan is a mathematician specializing in commutative algebra and algebraic geometry. Originally from India, she is a professor of mathematics at the University of Missouri.

Srinivasan was a National Science Talent Scholar in India beginning in 1975. She had her early schooling right here in our Chennai (thiruvallikeni) and went on to obtained B.Sc. (Honours) from Bombay University, where she won the Ghia Prize for mathematics in 1978 for the highest score in Mathematics.. She completed her Ph.D. at Brandeis University in 1986.

Her dissertation, supervised by David Buchsbaum, was Multiplicative Structures on Some Canonical Resolutions. She joined the University of Missouri faculty where she currently holds Blumenthal Distinguished Professorship. At Missouri, she has supervised 6 doctoral students. She has published over 50 research papers in Commutative algebra and Algebraic Geometry and has given over 100 invited presentations. During her entire career, she has frequently been a visitors at various institutions in India including IIT- Bombay, IIT- Madras and Chennai Math Institute.

She was elected as part of the 2018 class of Fellows of the American Mathematical Society, elected "for contributions to algebra and algebraic geometry, mentoring, and service to the mathematical community".

Topic: Numbers, Counting and Symmetry

We will start with an old puzzle from, say elementary school, I involving numbers and wind our way through counting, geometry and arrive at current mathematical research.

DYNAMICS OF THE WEBINAR

Mathematics, rightly viewed, possesses not only truth, but supreme beauty—a beauty cold and austere, like that of sculpture, without appeal to any part of our weaker nature, without the gorgeous trappings of painting or music, yet sublimely pure, and capable of a stern perfection such as only the greatest art can show. The true spirit of delight, the exaltation, the sense of being more than Man, which is the touchstone of the highest excellence, is to be found in mathematics as surely as poetry. Mathematical beauty is the aesthetic pleasure typically derived from the abstractness, purity, simplicity, depth or orderliness of mathematics. Mathematicians often express this pleasure by describing mathematics as beautiful. To explore the beauty of Mathematics,

Dr. Hema Srinivasan , Professor, Department of Mathematics, University of Missouri, United states of America will deliver her Inaugural address.

Dr. Manoj Kummini, Associate Professor, Department of Mathematics, Chennai Mathematical Institute will deliver his lecture on the topic “Solving Systems of Polynomial Equations”

Dr.P.Ganesh Kumar, Assistant Professor ,Department of Information Technology, Anna University Regional Campus Coimbatore will deliver his lecture on the topic “Fundamentals of Machine Learning”.

We look forward to get an exposure about what the best of brain think about the Elegance of Mathematics.

WELCOME ADDRESS

A very Good Morning to everyone gathered.

Respected Dr. Latha Rajendran, Correspondent, Dr. MGR Janaki College of Arts and Science for Women, Chairman Dr. Kumar Rajendran, Principal Dr. Manimekalai, Distinguished Speakers, Academicians, Faculty Members, Participants and my dear students.

On behalf of the department of Microbiology, I take immense pleasure in welcoming you to the National Webinar on the theme "Diversified Fungi: Insights and Implications" organized by the Department of Microbiology, Dr. MGR Janaki College of Arts and Science for Women. Our planet is endowed with diverse groups of organisms. Fungi, the so- called fifth kingdom, plays a significant role in interacting with plants, humans and animals, leading to symbiotic, mutualistic, saprophytic or pathogenic life.

Fungi play a very important role in addressing major global challenges, being instrumental for improved resource efficiency, making renewable substitutes for products from fossil resources, upgrading waste streams to valuable food and feed ingredients, counteracting life-style diseases and antibiotic resistance through strengthening the gut biota, and functioning as host organisms for production of new biological drugs. This range of the potentiality of fungi all stand on the shoulders of the efforts of mycologists over generations. The scientific discipline "mycology" has built comprehensive understanding within fungal biodiversity, classification, evolution, genetics, physiology, ecology, pathogenesis, and nutrition. To unfold the full potentials of what fungi can do for both environment and man, this national webinar is themed on offering a scientific framework to make the scientific community be aware of the immense importance of fungi and for expanding the exploitation of fungal biodiversity for more value added uses.

We appreciate greatly and heartily welcome our distinguished guest Dr. Thangam Menon, Emeritus Professor, Department of Microbiology, Saveetha Dental College and Hospitals, Chennai who has graciously accepted our invite to deliver the inaugural address on “Fungal Infections in the COVID era” and esteemed speakers, Dr. Bernard F. Rodrigues who is a Senior Professor in Botany Discipline at the School of Biological & Biotechnology, Goa University, Goa, Dr. Prabhu, Assistant Professor and Head In-Charge in the Department of Microbiology at Dr. ALM PG IBMS, University of Madras, Chennai, and Dr.D.Arvind Prashanth, Associate Professor in Department of Microbiology at School of Bio Sciences, Periyar University, Salem who are here to impart their knowledge on various issues relevant to the theme of the webinar.

| Academic Year: | 2022-23 | Date : | 30/01/2023 |

Mycorrhizal fungi are symbiotic fungi that form mutually beneficial relationships with the roots of most plants. Here are some recent trends and dynamics in the study of mycorrhizal fungi:

- Climate Change Impact: Researchers are increasingly investigating how climate change affects mycorrhizal associations. Changes in temperature, precipitation patterns, and CO₂ levels can alter these symbiotic relationships, which in turn can impact plant health and ecosystems.
- Mycorrhizal Diversity: Ongoing research continues to reveal the diversity of mycorrhizal fungi. New species and interactions are being discovered, shedding light on the complexity of these underground networks.
- Agricultural Applications: Mycorrhizal fungi have gained attention for their potential use in sustainable agriculture. They can enhance plant nutrient uptake and reduce the need for synthetic fertilizers, making them an eco-friendly option for improving crop yields.
- Ecosystem Restoration: Mycorrhizal fungi play a crucial role in ecosystem restoration. Studying their dynamics helps in restoring degraded ecosystems by facilitating plant establishment and growth.

Opportunistic Mycotic Infections:

Opportunistic fungal infections occur in individuals with compromised immune systems. Here are some dynamics and trends in this field:

- Emerging Pathogens: There has been an increase in reports of emerging fungal pathogens causing opportunistic infections. This includes species that were previously considered harmless or non-pathogenic.

- Antifungal Resistance: Like antibiotic resistance in bacteria, antifungal resistance is a growing concern. Some fungal species have developed resistance to commonly used antifungal drugs, making treatment more challenging.
- Immunocompromised Populations: With the rise in conditions like HIV/AIDS, organ transplantation, and cancer treatments, there is a larger population at risk for opportunistic fungal infections. This drives the need for better diagnostic tools and treatments.
- Public Health Surveillance: Surveillance systems and databases are being established to monitor the prevalence and distribution of opportunistic fungal infections. This helps in identifying trends and outbreaks.

Endophytic Fungi:

Endophytic fungi live inside plant tissues without causing harm and can have various beneficial effects. Here are some dynamics in the study of endophytic fungi:

- Biodiversity and Discovery: Researchers are continually discovering new endophytic fungal species with diverse ecological roles. These fungi can help plants resist pathogens, tolerate environmental stress, and promote growth.
- Biotechnological Applications: Endophytic fungi are being explored for their biotechnological potential. They can produce bioactive compounds with pharmaceutical, agricultural, and industrial applications.
- Plant-Microbe Interactions: The study of endophytic fungi sheds light on the complex interactions between plants and microbes. Understanding these interactions can lead to the development of sustainable agricultural practices and ecological restoration strategies.
- Environmental Impact: Research on endophytic fungi includes their role in bioremediation and their potential for mitigating environmental pollution. These fungi can help degrade pollutants and improve soil health.

These lecture topics are the fields with ongoing research that contributes to our understanding of symbiotic relationships, infectious diseases, and the ecological roles of fungi in various environments. Keeping up with current literature and developments in these areas is essential for staying informed about the latest trends and discoveries.

Introduction

- Fungal infections remain a major cause of significant morbidity and mortality among specific patient groups and of an increased financial burden to the healthcare economies.
- Opportunistic mycosis is a disease caused by pathogenic fungi when changes in the total number of normal flora occur in immunocompromised people.
- Immunosuppressed state - immunosuppressive drug/cancer chemotherapy, corticosteroids, drugs to prevent organ transplant rejection, radiation therapy, infections (e.g., HIV), cancer, diabetes, advanced age and malnutrition.
- Infection can be transmitted by the inhalation of spores (aspergillus, cryptococcus, histoplasmosis), percutaneous inoculation in cutaneous and subcutaneous infections (dermatophytosis, madura foot), penetration into the mucosa by contaminated organisms such as Candida albicans and the ingestion of a toxin in contaminated food or drink (gastrointestinal disease).

Diagnosis of infection

- The clinical manifestations of opportunistic fungal infection are not specific and hence the laboratory diagnosis is important for optimal management of these infections.
- Pathological evidence from T-stains and high-resolution computed tomography is useful for the diagnosis of fungal infections.
- Conventional serological methods include direct microscopic examination and the culture of samples is also very important in diagnosing the opportunistic fungal infection.
- Serological methods for the diagnosis of opportunistic fungal infections, and the results of these tests become probable over time.
- Molecular methods such as PCR may serve as a powerful non-culture method for the diagnosis of opportunistic fungal infection in high-risk patients.
- The interpretation of positive results in high-risk patients should be used for early diagnosis.

The National Seminar on Diversified Fungi, held on 01/02/2023, at Dr.MGR Janaki college in virtual mode at stream yard was a significant event that brought together experts, researchers, students, and enthusiasts from the field of mycology to discuss the diverse world of fungi. The seminar aimed to foster knowledge exchange, share research findings, and promote awareness about the ecological, economic, and medical significance of fungi.

The seminar commenced with an inaugural session featuring esteemed guests and speakers. The session highlighted the importance of studying diversified fungi in various contexts, from biodiversity conservation to industrial applications. The seminar featured several enlightening keynote addresses by renowned mycologist Dr.Thangam Menon

The keynote speaker discussed the importance of preserving fungal diversity, which often receives less attention compared to other organisms. Fungal conservation strategies were emphasized. The address delved into the growing challenges of fungal infections in healthcare settings, with a focus on emerging pathogens and antifungal resistance.

Dr.Rodriguez Presentations highlighted the discovery of new fungal species, their taxonomy, and the importance of cataloging and documenting these organisms.Ecology and he shared insights into the ecological roles of fungi, such as mycorrhizal associations, decomposition, and their influence on plant and animal communities.

Dr.Prabhu discussions revolved around emerging fungal pathogens, diagnostic techniques, and strategies to combat fungal infections in humans, animals, and plants.

Speaker Dr.Arvind presented studies on the interactions between endophytic fungi and their host plants, emphasizing their role in enhancing plant growth and stress tolerance.

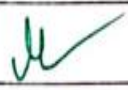

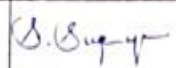

The seminar also included interactive panel discussions and provided participants with opportunities to engage in in-depth discussions, share practical experiences, and gain hands-on knowledge in various areas of mycology.

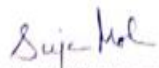

The National Seminar on Diversified Fungi was a resounding success, promoting a deeper understanding of fungi and their multifaceted roles in our world. It facilitated collaborations among researchers and encouraged young scientists to explore the diverse field of mycology. The seminar underscored the significance of fungi in ecological, medical, and industrial contexts and highlighted the need for continued research and conservation efforts in this field.

The knowledge and insights shared during this seminar will undoubtedly contribute to advancements in the study of diversified fungi, benefiting science, industry, and the environment.

We would like to express our gratitude to all the participants, speakers, organizers, and sponsors who made this seminar possible. Your dedication and enthusiasm for mycology are invaluable contributions to the field.

VEDAM MILK PRODUCT

April 03, 2018

Rating Assigned

|------------------------------|--|
| Total Bank Facilities Rated* | Rs. 6.24Crore |
| Long Term Rating | SMERA B+ / Outlook: Stable (Assigned) |

* Refer Annexure for details

Rating Rationale

SMERA has assigned long term rating of 'SMERA B+' (read as SMERA B plus) to the Rs. 6.24 crore bank facilities of Vedam Milk Products (VMP). The outlook is 'Stable'.

The Tamil Nadu-based VMP was established in 2016 by Mr. N Ramesh, Mr. N. Suresh, Mrs. S. Maheswari and Mrs. R. Rekha. The firm is engaged in the trading of milk and plans to commence production of dairy products including ghee, paneer, packaged milk among others from April 2018. The estimated project cost is Rs. 9.00 crore (including machinery cost of Rs. 7.80 crore and factory building of Rs. 1.20 crore).

Key rating drivers

Strengths

Experienced management

Mr. N Ramesh, the Managing Partner has over a decades experience in milk procurement. Mr. N Suresh has experience of over a decade in milk procurement, manufacture and supply chain management. The partners already have a distribution network which is expected to benefit VMP. SMERA believes that VMP will benefit from the extensive experience of the partners and established track record.

Weaknesses

Project implementation risk

The estimated project cost is Rs. 9.00 crore to be funded through a term loan of Rs. 5.74 crore and partner's capital of Rs. 3.50 crore. Commercial operations are expected to commence from April, 2018. Any delay would have an adverse impact on the debt servicing ability of the firm.

Susceptibility to changes in government regulations, environmental conditions

The profit margins are susceptible to changes in government regulations such as ban on skimmed milk powder (SMP) exports and withdrawal of export incentives. Furthermore, external factors such as cattle diseases can also have a bearing on margins.

Highly competitive industry

The dairy industry is highly fragmented with a large number of unorganised players. The firm also faces competition from big players including Amul and Aavin Milk in the organised segment. Also, ensuring competitive remuneration to farmers for procurement of milk would be a key sensitivity for a steady supply chain.
